

What We Have Won.

Western Democrats have told where in the tariff bill is a disappointment. The great American privilege of letting men who do not act on the square know what we think of them has been exercised against those who spoiled the House bill in the Senate.

There is the difference between Democrats and Republicans. The McKinley bill was privately denounced by Blaine. Senator Plumb voted against it. But the voice of protest was instantly silenced by the party machine, and the Western Republicans, who had been forced by the trust bought managers to eat their words and abandon their interests, have either said nothing since or have sworn by all that was sacred that the McKinley act was the best tariff law ever passed or proposed.

Republicans have learned how to give up the right of free speech for the sake of party. Democrats never have learned and never will learn to surrender a single manhood right for the sake of party and politicians.

We have spoken our opinion of the senate bill's shortcomings. We have also an opinion to the effect that our Representatives and senators collectively have, at the cost of unnumbered difficulties, passed a bill which is so much a relief that it is a revolution. The influences which withheld much good which elevated civic wisdom would have bestowed were protection influences. They constituted the remaining strength of a long pampered aggregation of interests which the Democratic majority in the Senate was not large enough to dislodge.

The merits are the Democratic part and they are many. The Democratic heroes in both houses deserve the highest commendation; for every reduction was a battle with desperate and well-armed partisans of protection. Fifty per cent of McKinley taxes have been taken from most of the articles of common consumption. Woolen manufacture, which has languished in spite of almost unlimited protection, will be expanded through access to the world's wool markets. We shall have cheaper and better clothing and blankets—and we can at last get pure wools of American manufacture. Steel and iron will preserve a healthy level of prices, instead of being the plaything of alternate scarcity and overproduction. Cotton ties and bagging will not be monopolized whenever there is a good crop of cotton. Tin plate duties are 50 per cent less.

In woollens and knit fabrics the reduction is from over 100 per cent to an average of 35 per cent. This is of great significance, not only because it will cheapen these absolutely necessary articles to the consumer, but because it will stimulate trade with Germany, Belgium, France and England, where the demand for our meats, flour and grain is the largest. The protectionist may ask how foreign trade can be stimulated and home-woolen manufacture enlarged at the same time. The answer is that consumption will increase with great rapidity. Among three-fourths of our people far less of good woolen clothing, carpets and blankets is used than the users would like and would have if they could pay for more. Enlarge their export markets and they will enlarge the home market.

Our new tariff will have a good effect on business and production. Southern and Western Democratic members have done their best, and have a great public good to show for their year's labor.

Send to Washington a larger majority. Confer upon the Democratic party power to change specific to ad valorem duties, so that the inventions which cheapen goods everywhere may go to the benefit of the people. The only tariff which does not require tinkering every session is an ad valorem, revenue tariff, which adjusts itself to the needs of Government and the conditions of production. We want no specific duties, which put low grades of goods under the same charges as high grades, and which keep the same tax in force for years even if invention reduces the natural cost of an article to one-tenth. The next two objects of tariff reform are free raw materials and ad valorem rates. The people have but one avenue to the reform—the election of Democrats.—Republic.
